Regulation REACH (EC n. 1907/2006) concerning the registration, evaluation, authorisation and restriction of chemicals.

Object: Declaration of the position taken by ACL srl

Dear Sirs,

In accordance with regulation REACH EC n. 1907/2006 (Registration Evaluation Authorization and Restrictions of Chemicals) that came into force within the European Community on June 1st 2007, ACL srl herewith informs its customers about the measures taken to comply with the above mentioned regulation:

- As a manufacturer of solenoid valves, ACL srl is a downstream user, and it is not under the obligation of pre-registration or registration, as requested by the conditions of the article 7 of the regulation EC n. 1907/2006, regarding the presence of chemical substances released by articles during standard use.
- The items/products supplied by ACL srl do not contain substances that are subjected to be released.
- No product supplied by ACL contains any of the substances listed in the SVHC Candidate List, neither as main component, nor as working residue, in a quantity that is exceeding 0.1% in mass/mass. Since this is not the final Candidate List, as additional substances might be included in it in the future, ACL srl ensures it will constantly monitor its future updating.
- ACL srl is only transforming substances present in either finished or semi-finished products, coming from up-stream suppliers.
- As downstream user of either substances or of components of a product, ACL srl will fulfil the obligations required by the regulation.
- ACL srl has already contacted its upstream suppliers to verify their position regarding the REACH regulation, asking them to inform in case they have to either proceed with the pre-registration or inform their upstream suppliers about the obligations required by the regulation.

To conclude, ACL srl considers itself exempt from the obligations of pre-registration and registration required by the REACH regulation. However, ACL srl intends to complete other obligations, such as the entire production process.

ACL srl will inform immediately all customers in case there are changes affecting the validity of the above declaration.
